WORK FOR TRUTH

WORK FOR TRUTH

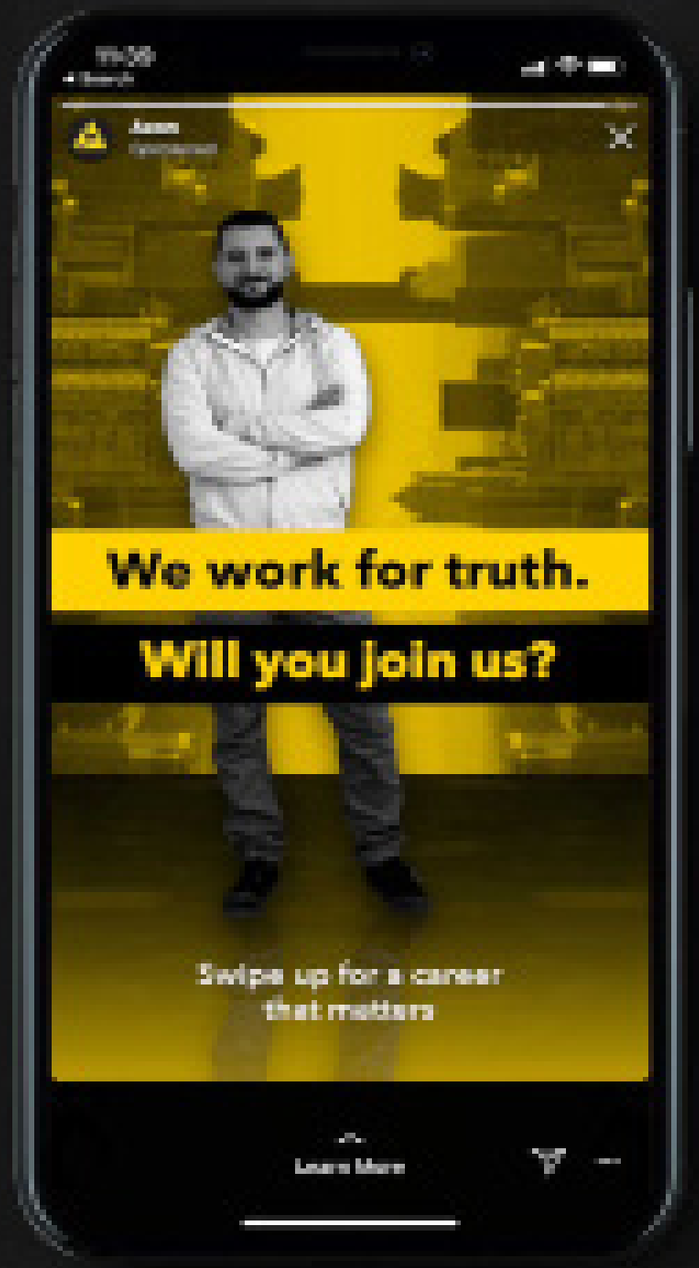
With 24-hour news cycles, "fake news" and simmering social tensions, the truth is often muddled. An old saying comes to mind, "There are three sides to every story: yours, mine and the truth." It's important to you that the biggest pieces of your life align closely with your personal values of truth, transparency and social justice—and that includes the companies you work for.

With your unique skills, you could really work anywhere and earn a big paycheck, but that's not really important to you. You want your career to matter, to contribute to solving social issues that are close to your heart. You understand the frictions between first responders and the communities, and you want to help both sides reveal the truth. Because the truth is what really matters.

There are three sides

to every story.

Stand with truth.



We work for truth.
Will you join us?
Swipe up for a career
that matters
Learn More

MESSAGE PLATFORM 3

techcrunch.com

Login

Startups
Apps
Gadgets
Videos
Audio
Extra Crunch NEW Newsletters
—
Events
Advertise
More

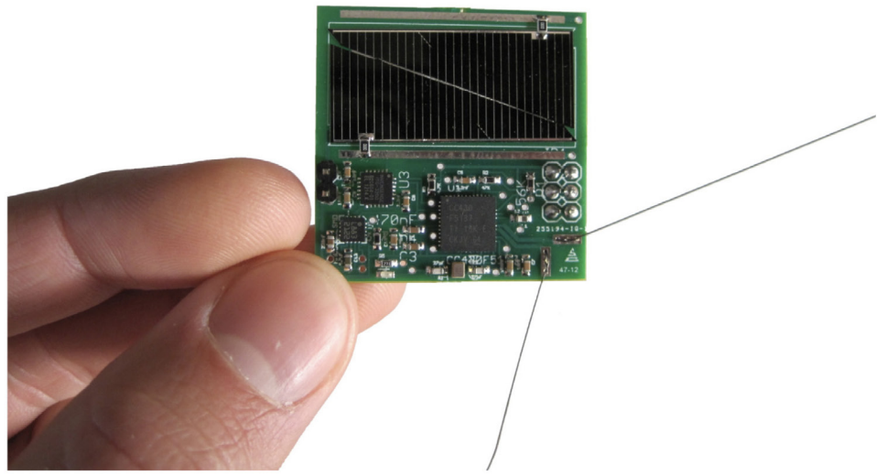
Search

e3 2019
Apple
Transportation
Enterprise

KickSat-2 project launches 105 cracker-sized satellites

Devin Coldewey @techcrunch / 1 week ago

Comment

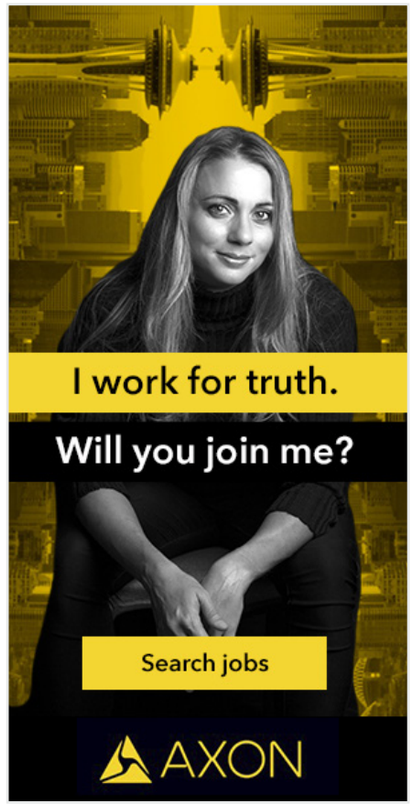


Move over, Starlink. SpaceX's global internet play might have caught the world's attention with its 60-satellite launch last month, but little did we know that it had already been upstaged — at least in terms of sheer numbers. The KickSat-2 project put 105 tiny "femtosats" into space at once months earlier, the culmination of a years-long project begun by a grad student.

cond attempt by Zac Manchester, now a professor at

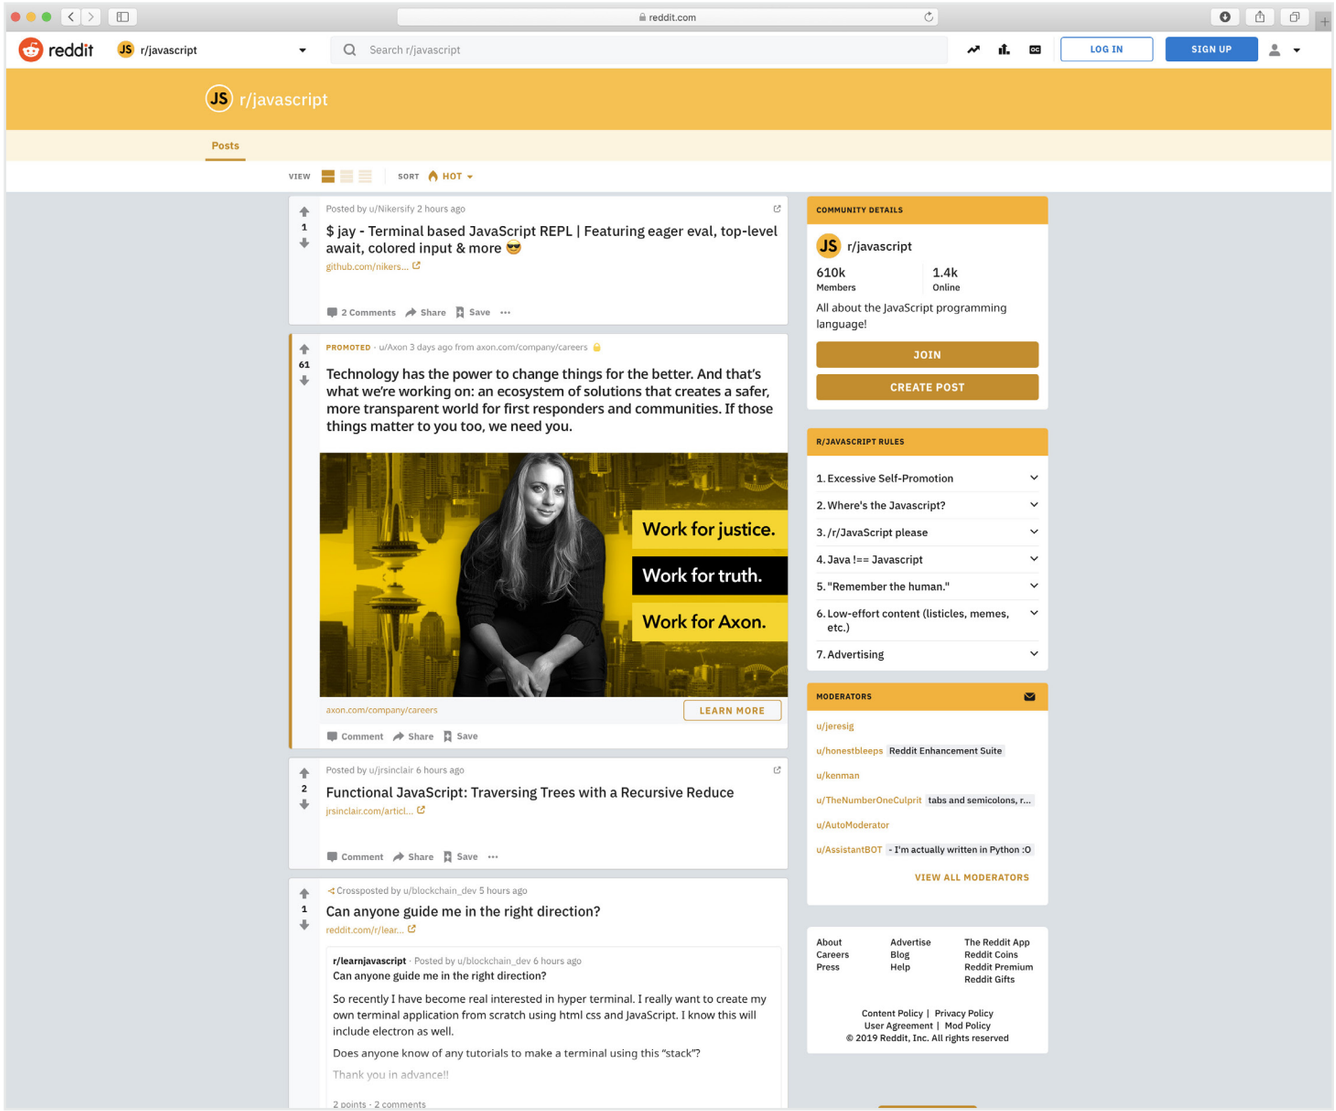
TC Sessions: Mobility 2019
3 Days To Early Bird Close
San Jose
Jul 10
Save $100 Now

AdChoices



DIGITAL DISPLAY

MESSAGE PLATFORM 3



REDDIT NATIVE